How to stay busy in retirement

According to Dave Bernard in his blog Retirement is only the beginning, to keep busy in retirement is important to one's general well-being. Once being no longer part of the working world, it is now your personal responsibility to fill the days with creative endeavours.

Some people have more than enough interests and passions to fill every moment of retirement, but others may welcome a little help keeping busy. Here are a few things to do in retirement:

1. Learn a new language.
2. Mentor someone younger than you.
3. Try coin collecting.
4. Plant a garden – flowers or vegetables.
5. Learn to cook – as extravagantly as you wish.

When it comes to keeping busy in retirement, the real measure of success is the quality of life we experience. Try to set up activities that will make you feel satisfied with how you have spent your time. A little advance planning can help you to make your retirement years worthwhile and meaningful.

The Pensioner

December 2016

In memory of Peter Bailey who passed away in August this year.

Peter was part of the Committee of Management from 1989 to 2015. His impact and dedication to the Fund will always be remembered and greatly appreciated.

Pension Increases and Bonuses versus Inflation

The graph below shows the effect of the pension increases and lump sum payments over the past six years versus inflation. As can be seen, the Fund has been able to provide an inflation beating benefit where your pension well exceeds inflation.

These increases and bonuses surpassing inflation, reflect an improved standard of living for our Pensioners.

Pensioners in the Superannuation Fund have received bonuses in November annually, (Retirement Fund Pensioners have received bonuses since 2013) equal to an additional months pension.

Special increases or bonuses are awarded from time to time, the most recent being the 8.33% increase on 1 January 2016, effectively making the '13th cheque' permanent and payable monthly in advance.
